THE DEAD GAMBLER.

Inquest on His Remains Last Night.

THE VERDICT OF THE JURY.

The Unknown Man Who Did the Shooting is Still at Large.

The murderer of Robinson, the gambler, has not been found yet, although the police have been actively in search of him ever since the affair took place. He has been so plainly described and is known to so many people that it is hardly possible that he can escape. He is supposed to be in hiding somewhere in the city, and will probably be discovered before many days have passed.

A Coroner's inquest yesteaday on the body of the murdered man developed a number of new facts which are given in the report of the testimony. It appears very plainly that what is known among the gambling fraternity as the double-cross was being worked upon the man who did the shooting by Robinson and his accomplice, Hughes. The "mac" had been informed by Robinson that he would be given a chance at a "sucker," and Hughes was designated as the man. It was arranged that a pack of marked cards should be used and Robinson agreed to put up half the money for the game. The marked cards were used but they were deftly arranged so that the markings should read wrong to the "mac" but right to Hughes. Thus the "mac" was to be caught in his own net. As it turned out, however, the man who was really caught was Robinson, the originator and executor of the entire scheme. After the inquest Hughes was released by the police and allowed to return to Santa Monica, where, it is said, his child is dying. The inquest was held at 7 o'clock in the evening and the following testimony was elicited: William Gorme, the keeper of the Crystal Palace saloon, testified that he had known the deceased about three years. "The deceased and Hughes were standing at the bar when another man passed through the room and then returned and asked Robinson to play a game of poker. Robinson said, 'Why don't you play with this man?' meaning Hughes. They all three went into the cardroom and played for about three hours. Robinson did not play but looked on and called for several rounds of drinks. At about 11 o'clock the stranger came out of the room and asked for another pack of cards. I took them out of the drawer and started to go into the room, but before I got there I heard the shooting. I put the cards in the drawer and ran out into the wash-room. One shot after another was fired. I could not see into the room. After five or six shots were fired, I saw the two men who were with the deceased run out the front door. I then went back behind the counter and one of the men came back and fired two or three more shots into the card room. I ran into the card room and found Robinson crouching down behind the table, which was overturned. The deceased had played at this saloon before, but I did not know the third man, but had seen him twice before. I believe that this man did the shooting. I had heard no growling about the playing during the evening."

James Kershaw, the Lawson patrol man, testified that he had heard the shooting and saw a man come running out of the saloon. "Going into the card room I saw the deceased sitting on the floor behind the table, which was upset. I asked him who did the shooting, but he could not speak. There was a pistol lying near his hand, pointing away from him."

Dr. Choate, who was summoned to give medical aid to the dying man, testified that death had resulted from a bullet wound, which began at the hip and terminated in the lungs. The deceased had refused to speak about the affair, except to say that Hughes could tell all about it. "We asked if it was a little man with a gold-headed cane that shot him, and he answered that it was."

The man Hughes, who was the only witness to the scene between Robinson and the unknown man, was next examined. He testified in brief as follows: "I reside at Santa Monica and have always been a railroad man until I came out here, about a year ago. Last night I met the deceased and he told me about a man whom he called the "Little Mac," who had promised to meet him at the Oxford Hotel. While we were drinking at the Oxford bar this man came in from the back of the saloon, walked up and spoke to Frank, the deceased, and took a drink with me. Frank said he had an engagement with a girl, and couldn't play to-night. Then the "mac" said to me, 'I will play you, if you wish, a little single-handed game,' and we all went back into the card-room together. The "mac" and I played until about 11 o'clock; I was winning nearly all the time. The "mac" then got up and said: 'Let me have a new pack to change my luck,' and stepped to the door, tearing up some of the cards as he did so. He asked for the cards, but instead of waiting for them he came back and said to the deceased: 'You have been in with this all the time,' and pulled a pistol out of his pocket. He fired at the deceased and he fell back into the corner. He fired twice. I caught his arm and threw him back against the partition and then dodged out under his arm. As I ran out into the barroom I heard more shots. I thought he was going to shoot me. The cards we were playing with were marked. The 'mac' knew it but did not suspect that there were other marks on them than the ones of which he knew. I only saw one pistol. If the deceased carried one I did not know of it."

John Dunn, a clerk, testified that he knew the deceased. "His name is Mathew Robinson, and he is 27 years of age. I recognize this pistol as the one he owned."

The jury brought in a verdict that "Mathew Robinson came to his death from a gunshot wound inflicted by a person unknown to the jury, but described in the evidence as a 'little mac.'"

Couldn't Agree: He—"Will you be a sister to me?" She—"No, but I will be your wife, darling." He—"That is not what I want, dear."—[Life.

THE UTAH SOUTHERN.

Result of the Surveyors' Investigations.

A NEW MAIN LINE CHOSEN.

The Route it is Proposed to Follow. Prospects for Early Construction.

When General Passenger Agent J. S. Tebbetts, of the Union Pacific railroad, was in Los Angeles a few months ago, he informed a HERALD reporter that the extention of the Utah Southern to this city was an assured fact. He stated that a corps of surveyors was in the field, and that when they had decided on a route the Union Pacific would commence active operations. The following article, which is taken from the Salt Lake Tribune, gives the result of the investigations of the engineers:

In a talk yesterday with Engineer J. Fewson Smith, of the Union Pacific, the following facts relative to the Utah Southern extension survey were elicited. There have been two parties out since February last, under the direction of G. W. Snow and J. A. West respectively, with Mr. Smith as supervising engineer, and they have given the entire country on the line to Mojave and Barstow such a thorough going over that the route finally selected by them will no doubt be approved by the powers that be at Omaha without any quibbling. The line of the preliminary survey made a year ago started from Black Rock, twenty-two miles this side of Milford, and ended at Ash Meadows, Lincoln county, Nevada. The present survey begins at Milford Station and extends to Mojave and Barstow. The main line laid out this trip is shorter than that selected as probable in the preliminary survey by fifty miles, the grades nowhere exceed 100 feet, with the curves at a maximum of 6 degrees. The length of the lines surveyed aggregate nearly 1,500 miles, the main line being only about a third of this, and the rest representing auxiliary lines, a plan that gives the Omaha big guns abundant choice in making a selection of routes. And it may be said here that the choice will be open for selection of a line approaching more nearly the mining camps with steeper gradients and a shorter cut across the country, or of a little longer line farther from the principal mining camps and with much easier grades and curves. The main line now designated by the engineers as the most feasible, on leaving Milford bears across the Escalente Valley, and goes over the rim of the Great Salt Lake basin opposite Pioche. Thence the general course is northwest to Bristol Pass in the Ely range, near Bristol mining camp, where great quantities of medium grade ores are mined. From there the line strikes into the White River watershed, and thence through Coal Valley over the Freiburg Pass into the Pennoyer Valley and on to Kane Springs. Beyond that the line runs to the headwaters of the Armagosa river, which is followed to Ash Meadows where the course is to Death Valley, and on crossing the plateau between Death and Panamint Valleys, the main line runs over into the Mojave desert, and straight on to Barstow. From there to Los Angeles is but a short run.

OF THE AUXILIARY LINES,

Part of which may be used as the main line, and which are run to strike the mining camps more direct, the principal one deflects from the main line in the White River district, and runs through the Paranagat, Timpahute, Groom and Southeastern districts, joining the main line again at Kane Springs, after a detour of about 150 miles, and striking valuable mining properties. The second auxiliary line penetrates Pahrampt Valley, between Kingston Mountain and Resting Springs, and across the Tecopah range country, and continuing right through to Mojave Sink, or near Death Valley. There are a number of other auxiliary or trial lines, whose object and aggregate length have been already referred to. Every available pass has been examined between the Colorado river on the south, and the lines developed on the north. The heavy cañons were easily avoided, thus avoiding also a work of an excessive character. The cost of building this road will be moderate, about $12,000 to $20,000 per mile; the route is entirely feasible, and though there must be considerable culvert building, the items of bridges and trestles will be very light. Moreover, the character of the country admits of rapid construction, so that when President Adams once gives the word, "Are you ready?" Go!" construction can be pushed at the highest rate of speed. Mr. Smith says his statements made in the report on the preliminary survey as to the mineral wealth of the country traversed by the extension must be enlarged, as they prove to be entirely beneath what the outlook would justify him in stating now. Not only he but other railroad men who have been through there recently are very enthusiastic over the mineral outlook. All that has been said before can be doubled and said over again, and Mr. Smith is certain that local traffic will abundantly support the road when once put through. The pass elevations remain practically unchanged from the figures given in the preliminary survey. The distance between Salt Lake and Los Angeles via Barstow will be 800 miles, a saving of 500 miles over the present route. Mr. Smith and the surveyors are now getting out their maps and the report, which will be ready in a few days for transmission to Omaha.

LA FONDA'S SENTENCE.

He Will Spend Five Years in San Quentin.

Joseph La Fonda, the herb doctor of Pasadena, was taken before Judge Cheney yesterday for sentence for the crime of raping Alma Griffith. A motion was made by defendant's attorney for a new trial but it was denied. Judge Cheney after reviewing the testimony, said that it was fortunate that the defendant was an old man. There was but one way to deal with men who were so depraved as to take advantage of young children and that was to send them to jail for long periods. In this case he thought that the child had been carelessly brought up and there was no doubt but that she had consented to the crime. This did not excuse La Fonda, however, and he sentenced him to five years at San Quentin. La Fonda said that he would not live until his sentence expires.

A Fallen Safe.

A safe belonging to the Pasadena Transfer Company, of which Mr. Hancock Banning is manager, fell down the stairs in the new Lanfranco Block on Main street yesterday afternoon. It was being hauled up stairs by the employees of the Company, and just as it reached the top landing the rope gave way and the safe came down with a crash. It weighed 1000 pounds and made quite a noise, but strange to say, did not injure the stairs. It mashed the tiling at the foot of the stairs and made a few dents in the sidewalk as it rolled out to the gutter. No one was injured and the damage amounted to about $60.

UNFAIR TREATMENT.

Alleged Mistreatment of Three Railroad Men.

Three railroad men, whose names are J. H. Tadlock, Charles Carter and Alvin Helton, claim that they have received some very unfair treatment at the hands of deputy constables. They were living in a car near the railroad bridge. Having a considerable sum of money in their possession, they were constantly on their guard against an attack from the numerous vagrants who frequent that locality. Wednesday night according to the story told by the men, J. H. Tadlock was standing outside of the car, when Deputy Constable Trice, accompanied by four men, came up and tackled him. Being a little frightened and doubtful of what their intentions might be, Tadlock promptly drew a revolver and stood the men off. They thereupon announced that he was under arrest.

By this time Carter and Helton had come out of the car, and they were charged with being vagrants. All three were taken to the County Jail. Tadlock was booked on a charge of attempted robbery. This morning they were taken before Justice Taney, and after a brief examination, were all discharged. Tadlock expressed to the reporter his determination to bring a civil suit for damages.

A Vestibuled Service.

The telegram that appeared among the Associated Press dispatches in the HERALD yesterday morning stating that a weekly vestibule train is to be run between Chicago and Los Angeles, was news to the officials here. They state though that the matter has been spoken of for some time past, and will doubtless be soon established. The Santa Fe will shorten its time with this train between here and Chicago, and thus make, by a long way, the fastest line from here to the Lake City. Speaking of the extra charges made for the accommodations of these special trains, a passenger agent said yesterday that from Chicago to New York the Pennsylvania system charges $10 extra for passage by their limited vestibule trains, but guarantee to refund it if the train does not make it within one hour of schedule time. From Los Angeles to New York via Chicago over the Santa Fe by the flyers an extra fare of about $20 will therefore be charged.

Their Appeal Granted.

The application of the Los Angeles and Eastern Railroad for a franchise over certain named county roads and passes in Los Angeles county, came up before the Board of Supervisors yesterday. The appeal was granted on the conditions that any other railroad may use the same right of way of the Los Angeles and Eastern Railway and that work shall commence within six months from date and finished inside of two years. The applicants for the franchise stated to a HERALD man that they meant business, and now that they have obtained the franchise they will proceed to settle private rights-of-way matters and commence work forthwith.

The Weyerman Case.

The case of Arthur Weyerman, who is charged with having killed his brother last July, was called in Judge Cheney's court yesterday. The defendant was not ready, however, as some of his witnesses were alleged to be absent from the city, and the case was continued to January January 7th. There is considerable interest attached to this case owing to the fact that the brother who was killed made several conflicting statements before his death, and there was considerable mystery attached to the shooting, which took place on the corner of Fort and Temple streets.

Fixing a Tariff.

No news has been received in this city from the Transcontinental Association meeting at St. Louis beyond the fact that a committee is hard at work tabulating a new freight tariff. It is a rather difficult undertaking, as owing to the ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the basis for making rates to Chicago and New York are very complicated. It is fully expected, however, that the charges to New York will be higher than those to Chicago, this being a complete reversal of the recent tariffs issued by the Transcontinental Association.

The S. P. at San Pedro.

The Southern Pacific has temporarily abandoned its search for artesian water on the Crocker townsite plateau. The well borers went down 850 feet on the first effort but could not find the kind of fluid needed. Regarding the Southern Pacific's mammoth wharf at San Pedro, operations are in abeyance until the creosoting plant arrives, which is being constructed in Germany at a cost of $30,000. It is expected that it will not be in operation here for about two months yet.

Raisins for the East.

A twelve-carload special raisin train left over the Santa Fe on Wednesday night from San Bernardino. They are billed for all points east of the Missouri River, quite a number of boxes being destined for New York City. General Agent Williamson Dunn of the Santa Fe reports that the raisin crop about Riverside is by no means cleared up yet, and his advices state that there will be fifty carloads yet from that vicinity.

Acquitted.

In August, 1886, Joseph F. Dye, well known in Los Angeles, was arrested for the killing of Herman Haines in Ventura county. The result of the first trial was a conviction, but the Supreme Court overruled some of the decisions of the lower court and ordered a new trial. This has been in progress in Ventura for the past few months and ended Wednesday night in Mr. Dye's acquittal. Hon. S. M. White and Henry T. Gage were the attorneys for the defendant.

Off the Track.

A wreck occurred yesterday morning two miles north of South Side, on the Southern Pacific. Five cars of a freight train bound in this direction climbed the rails while coming down grade, and tore up the track a little. A wrecking force was speedily summoned, and as no one was hurt by the accident, the only ill-effects were that the overland trains were delayed about three hours.

UNDESIRABLE VISITORS.

The Railroads Infested by Gangs of Tramps.

Constable George H. Magee, of Lancaster, brought down eight tramps yesterday morning charged with malicious mischief in burning and destroying lumber belonging to William Tweedy, of Antelope Valley, and who are to pass the next eighteen days in the county jail. Constable Magee reports that at the lowest estimate there are 350 tramps along the road between Los Angeles and Mohave. They travel in squads of ten or fifteen, and when night comes on they burn lumber, ties or whatever they can find, on account of the coldness of the weather. When arrested they threaten to return some day and burn the town for vengeance. The residents along the line of the railroad are greatly pestered by these vagrants, and it is scarcely safe for a woman to remain in a house alone, for they do not ask for, but demand, food. They will not work, and are evidently part of the great detachment of tramps that pours into Southern California every fall to escape the inclemencies of an Eastern winter. "If the authorities would arrest these vagabonds," said Mr. Magee, "as fast as they arrive, and give them good, hot sentences in the chaingang, they would soon shun this part of the country and try other pastures where they could prowl about unmolested."

EXTRA CARS DAILY.

The Pullman Company Benefited by the Rush Here.

The HERALD stated the other day that the majority of the tourist travel into Southern California came by the regular trains. This was corroborated yesterday by Division Superintendent W. B. Ellwood, of the Pullman Palace Car Company. He said "we have been obliged to put an extra equipment on all our trains leaving Kansas City over the Santa Fe. In addition to the regular cars two extra Pullman coaches filled with visitors for this city arrived this morning; the same thing occurs to-morrow. The Southern Pacific is equally served. Our company has had to furnish extra coaches for all trains from St. Louis and Chicago in this direction; in fact every westbound train that leaves the other side of the Rockies for Southern California has to take on extra accommodations to its regular service. The advices that I receive daily from the East indicate that this state of things is likely to continue for some time."

Depot Jottings.

General Manager Dan McCool of the Santa Fe, has returned from San Diego.

Train Dispatcher Bob Hamilton of the Southern Pacific, was at Yuma yesterday on business.

The Colton flyer is adorned when at the San Fernando-street Station with new descriptive flyers.

It is rumored that the time of No. 20 (the 10:30 P. M. train for San Francisco) is shortly to be changed, and will leave much earlier.

The Atlantic and Pacific men at Albuquerque want to know the location of Mr. E. V. Cicotte, formerly travelling auditor of that Company. He is believed to be in this city.

The Salt Lake Road people are resting until they see what disposition is made of their appeal for a franchise. The matter comes up before the Board of Public Works at 10 A. M. on Saturday.

Mr. P. Walsh, general baggage master of the Santa Fe, who has been in the city for a couple of days, left on the overland last night for his headquarters at Chicago. Mr. Walsh has charge of all the Santa Fe's baggage between Chicago and this city.

Pullman Passengers.

The following Pullman passengers left yesterday for San Francisco and the East:

SORE THROAT.

Inflammatory action of any kind in the nose speedily extends itself to the throat. From the throat each breath we draw carries the irritation onward and downward through the bronchial tubes; as these are involved the supply of air to the lungs becomes gradually diminished, tubercules may form and bronchitis end in consumption. "Sore throat" is the popular term used in speaking of throat diseases, differing widely from each other in their nature and treatment.

The throat comprises the whole space from the posterior nares down to the entrance into the windpipe and gullet. The several parts liable to disease are the mucous membrane lining the throat, the mucous follicles or little glands, which in health, secrete the lubricating mucous, the uvula or pedulus part which hangs down from the curtain of the palate and the tonsils.

ACUTE OR SIMPLE SORE THROAT.

The most simple form of throat disease is inflammation of the mucous membrane, resulting from recent cold. It is most prevalent in cold or damp weather. The symptoms are a roughness in the throat, with a slight pain and swelling. The throat looks red and angry and the tongue is slightly coated with white fur. Within a few days small whitish spots, which look like ulcers, form on the back of the throat and about the root of the tongue. If the attack be mild, these aphthous points disappear at the end of three or four days, but when more severe they leave behind them superficial ulcers. When the acute inflammation is not entirely removed it is likely to degeneate into a chronic form, and gradually develop what is called granular disease, or it may end in an abscess of the tonsil glands, or cause chronic enlargement of the tonsils and elongation of the uvula.

CHRONIC SORE THROAT.

This like nearly all affections of the throat and nose, usually begins with a severe cold, and is almost always attended with a hoarseness. It is more frequently a mere extension of catarrh or sore throat than an original disease, the irritation escaping down and fixing itself upon the delicate organism of this part, and thence gradually journeying onward to the lungs. When it occurs as a consequence of catarrh or sore throat, the symptoms are comparatively mild. There may be pain but it is more common to find only a sense of tickling which provokes cough. Many complain of a sensation as of "something sticking there," to get rid of which they keep up a rasping effort to clear the windpipe. The voice is always more or less affected, being rough in the early stage, but more feeble after the disease is fully established. There is often a slight tenderness over that prominence of the neck known as the "Apple of Adam" (Pomum Adam), a heat and a sense of tightness and frequently some slight difficulty in swallowing.

The causes which produce this form of disease are various. It arises in clergymen and public speakers and others from too violent use of the voice. The vocal cords become exhausted and lose their tone from straining and overuse. Dust and all irritating matters in the air are liable to be drawn into the windpipe and produce irritation. It is more often a mere sequel to sore throat, the inflammation extending down to the larnyx by reason of the continuity of mucous membrane.

But from whatever cause it arises it is always a serious malady. The chronic form threatens the complete destruction of the voice, and rarely ends until it has involved the lungs in disease. Every slight cold, every change in the weather, every flight of dust, feeds the irritation and increases the inveteracy of its hold.

On the other hand chronic laryngitis frequently occurs as a sequel of consumption, and is produced, or at least very much aggravated, by the irritation of the expectorated matter. Occurring as a consequence of tubercles, it is one of the most distressing complications and adds greatly to the patient's distress. In this form there is more or less ulceration of the vocal chords, beginning on the lower side and gradually extending upward. These ulcers often penetrate through the mucous and cellular membranes, involving the muscular tissue and not infrequently attack the ligaments and cartilages themselves.

When the laryngeal disease is secondary to that of the lungs, and dependent upon it, we can only hope to effect a cure by those means which will remove its cause, and these we have considered, and shall more fully consider, under the head of "Consumption."

In addition to inflammation, acute or chronic, the larynx is liable to abscesses, to warty growths and to polipi. Under the action of long continued irritation the vocal cords become thickened, rendering the voice husky and indistinct. And again, we may have complete loss of voice from palsy of the cords, constituting an affection known to the physicians by the term of "Aphonia." Unless the remedies are applied to the seat of the disease it is useless to try to effect a cure. It is for this reason that judicious inhalations are successful when all other means have been tried without avail.

TONSILITIS

Is an acute inflammation of the tonsils, which consists of a collection or mass of small mucous follicles or glands whose office is to secrete a portion of the fluid which keeps the throat moist. There are persons who suffer every winter, sometimes oftener, with an attack of acute inflammation of these glands. The trouble begins with a slight soreness and swelling, which gradually increases until the act of swallowing is attended with great suffering.

These glands are sometimes affected by a chronic inflammation, and are found enlarged and very much hardened. In such cases they secrete a thin, unhealthy, irritating fluid, which is spread over the throat, perpetuating the disease. In the throats of many young persons these glands are permanently so large as to render respiration exceedingly difficult. The defective breathing of children thus affected often occasions contraction of the chest, and lays the foundation for consumption. The eustachian tubes (the mouths of which are just above the palate) are often inflamed, and partial deafness is the result.

Many patients suffering from a throat disease are dyspeptic, and suffer from depression of spirits. So often does this symptom present itself that it may almost be regarded as one of the peculiarities. Persons thus afflicted have usually the dark and dingy look of the face which denotes functional derangement of the liver. They are frequently emaciated, nervous, hypochrondriacal, irritable and often exhausted from other causes, in combination with this disease.

GRANULAR SORE THROAT

Is the most serious form of throat disease. It is so called because on looking into the throat granulations of various sizes are seen, studding the membrane and causing it to appear rough and uneven. Sometimes these granulations appear in patches, but generally they are regular and distinct. When allowed to progress the mucous follicles of the larynx soon become involved, and then we have added to the other symptoms a huskiness of the voice in speaking or reading aloud, with a frequent effort to clear the windpipe, by which a thick, sticky, bluish-colored mucous is forced off with considerable difficulty. The transition from a simple to a granular sore throat is very easy. The patient becomes conscious of vexatious titillation, producing a desire to clear the throat several times during the course of the day. He may not notice this himself, but it is, nevertheless, observed by his friends. Some months later this disposition is found to have increased, and to be attended with an occasional desire to swallow, the patient—to use his own words—feeling something sticking in his throat.

TOURIST TRAVEL.

About 1,500 Visitors Are Now Coming Weekly.

THEIR IMPRESSIONS HERE.

List of the Excursions that are to be Run to Los Angeles this Season.

Eastern visitors are pouring into Los Angeles at the rate of about 1,500 a week, and the advices show that this influx is likely to continue for about the next two months at least. As has been pointed out before in the HERALD, a large proportion of this travel comes by the regular trains in spite of the many excursion coaches which are coming in this direction in an almost unbroken procession. It is well to note that most of the visitors are of a very desirable element, being traders, agriculturists, merchants and other business men who are interested by what they have heard of the many advantages here, have decided to come and inspect for themselves. The result of this is very satisfactory. Interviews with the visitors show that Los Angeles and the surrounding country has fully answered their expectations, and there is not the slightest doubt that the outcome will be a swarming into this country of settlers such as has not been witnessed before in the history of Southern California. Last year many came for speculative purposes, and having made a few thousand dollars on the advance of property left for "pastures new," but this year the visitors come with a different purpose—they come to see if the country is suitable for them to establish homes. Of course as a sanitarium, Los Angeles attracts a good many of the wealthy classes of the East who come simply to pass the winter, as they do not care to break up their homesteads on the Atlantic Coast. This however is quite satisfactory, as the hotel-keepers reap a golden harvest thereby and the traders and citizens at large are equally favorably affected. The fact that the yellow fever has not entirely disappeared from Florida will almost entirely stop the tourist travel in that direction this fall, and, therefore, those who prefer to pass the winter months in their own country to crossing the ocean and wandering about among strangers in Europe, will visit California, and when they have once come they will come again. Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb, who handle a large portion of the first-class tourist business from the East to this Coast, report that so far there has been an advance of 30 per cent. on their travel as compared with last fall, and the indications are that this proportion will be increased rather than diminished. The following list of excursions that will leave the East for Los Angeles during the season will doubtless be regarded with interest:

Raymond & Whitcomb—From Boston on December 6th, January 7th, 10th and 14th, February 7th, 11th and 25th, March 7th and 11th.

Cook's excursions—To arrive on the coast on December 20th, January 24th, February 21st and March 21st.

Union Pacific—From Council Bluffs and Chicago, every Wednesday throughout the season.

The Sunset—From Boston, November 20th, December 4th, and December 18th.

The Canadian Pacific—At irregular dates throughout the season.

In addition to those enumerated, there are numbers of parties which may be classified as "irregulars," that are got up in different Eastern towns and sent by the most available railroad.

NOTES.

A Cotteral excursion of forty people over the Union Pacific will arrive on Monday morning.

A Union Pacific excursion of about thirty people will arrive in Los Angeles on Wednesday next.

A Burlington excursion and a party equipped by Messrs. Phillips left the city for the East last night.

A Phillips excursion of twelve carloads numbering about 350 people is reported on its way to this city and will arrive on Tuesday night.

THE SUPERVISORS.

Railroad Franchises Consume Considerable Time.

A petition was received from the trustees of South Pasadena asking that the Supervisors appoint a Justice of the Peace for that place, and suggesting the name of Franklin Smith for the position. The petition was referred to the District Attorney.

The petition of N. B. Brown et al. for a franchise for the Los Angeles and Eastern railroad was referred back to petitioners for a more accurate description of the route, which was given late in the day, and the franchise was granted with the provision that work will commence in six months, and that the road in the county will be complete in two years. A clause was inserted in the franchise declaring that the right of constructing the railroad is not to be exclusive.

The bid of the Oakland Bank of Savings for the University and Los Feliz school bonds was accepted.

The petition of the Santa Ana and Long Beach Railroad Company for a franchise was taken under advisement.

A warrant was ordered drawn in favor of E. Darrow for $1,712 on his contract.

The Treasurer was instructed to transfer $5,000 from the General Fund to the Hospital Fund.

Supervisor Venable was appointed a committee of one to take the indigents from the County Hospital to the County Farm.

Supervisor Ross was instructed to select the location of the Fullerton and Anaheim bridge.

The following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, Numerous privileges have been granted to various parties for the building of street and other railroads in the county under certain stipulated conditions; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That all such privileges wherein the conditions have been violated or non-complied with, that the same are declared forfeited and the same are null and void.

The Board then adjourned.

A Social Hop.

The fourth anniversary of the opening of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45, N. S. G. W., was celebrated last Wednesday night by a social dance in the cozy little hall of the organization on Main street. The reception committee, consisting of Messrs. Homer C. Katz, J. H. Brenner and John H. Clarey, were untiring in their efforts to make the evening's entertainment a pleasant one, and the result was that the thirty couples present thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The programme was a lengthy one, consisting of fourteen pieces, but in spite of this, several extras were demanded, and it was long past midnight before the festivities were over.

For Thanksgiving Day.

On Thanksgiving Day a baseball match is to be played at the Prospect Park Grounds between rival business nines from Spring and First streets. It is also intended to have an athletic meeting of some description there, including a number of pedestrian contests; full particulars of which will be announced later on.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION, 123-5 West Second street, between Spring and Fort, Los Angeles.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1888.

FIRST street is to be paved "when the clouds roll by."

IT IS proposed to grade and macadamize Pearl street. Would it not be well to put a sewer in it first?

IF THE Kansas man, who is going to take the Pullman Company in hand, can get a law through the Legislature that will stick, and make that company keep upper berths shut when not occupied, he will be a public benefactor.

AS THE companies that paved Main and Spring streets engaged to keep them in good repair for five years, it is in order to call their attention to the ruts and holes that pervade them, and ask for a fulfillment of their contract.

THE Times, in a double-leaded leader, imagines a deep plot under way to defeat the "reformers," such ones as destroyed the furniture in Judge Austin's courtroom Wednesday night. After conjuring up the plot from its inner depths, the Times duly proceeds to "solemnly warn," etc. The which is very funny.

WHY is it that our contemporaries are all careful to say that the murder Wednesday night occurred at a game of poker, instead of at a game of "stud-horse poker?" Is it because the latter is prohibited by law, while the former is not? This seems to be a delicate bit of tenderness for the new Chief of Police.

A LEADING Republican said yesterday that the caucus in Justice Austin's court room Wednesday evening was the most diabolical exhibition of hoodlumism ever witnessed in Los Angeles. Pistols were pulled, furniture broken, and the air was sulphurous with profanity. Yet the papers that have been claiming all the decency for their party and denouncing the Democracy for all that is vile, had never a word to say yesterday about the ruffianism rampant in their Republican caucuses.

PROF. EDMUND W. BEMIS declares in the December Statesman, in his article on "Our Railways," that "our one hundred and fifty thousand miles of railway, with a valuation in stocks and bonds in 1886 of $8,163,148,000 on paper, and probably over five billions in reality, embrace one-tenth of our National wealth, or more than that of all the manufactures in the country. The yearly gross earnings of over nine hundred million dollars are more than three times the entire yearly appropriations of our National Government, while the employees exceed three-quarters of a million men, or more than any standing army in Europe."

STUD-HORSE poker seems to be pretty flourishing about Los Angeles notwithstanding the fact that Captain Benedict and not Cuddy is the Chief. The gay and festive Mongolian also seems to have not lost his relish for fan tan. In the incident which resulted in the death of Robinson a wholesale fusilade took place in a leading saloon, and at the date at which we write the murderer has not been discovered. There is evidently still plenty of work for the police in Los Angeles and we hope the force will maintain its hitherto fair reputation for efficiency. As the case stands now, however, we seem to be going back instead of forward.

IT IS of the first importance that Los Angeles should have a good Mayor and good city government, and it is not of vital concern as to whether they are Democrats or Republicans, although the average citizen prefers officials of his own party, very naturally. Our Republican fellow-citizens have not covered themselves with honor at their primaries. In a number of the wards ruffianism of the most robustious order shows that they believe that they own the city lock, stock and barrel. They think they see boodle ahead, and they are going for it in a very disgusting manner. They need not be a particle astonished if the people should turn round and elect the Democratic ticket by a handsome majority, maugre the results of three weeks ago. All the Democrats need to do to have a fair show of victory is to put up a strong and respectable ticket. Rowdyism run rampant very rarely leads up to victory in municipal matters. We are satisfied that a large portion of the vote polled for General Harrison was made up of workingmen, whose predilections are Democratic, but who were led astray by the Republican misrepresentations of Mr. Cleveland's attitude on the tariff. With a strong and respectable ticket—headed by some such a man as William Lacy for Mayor—we can get ready a very neat surprise for our opponents.

One Use of the Surplus.

When Hon. Tom Fitch, the silver tongued, made his speech to listening thousands in the Pavilion, he hit upon a very simple expedient for taking care of the surplus, and it has marked attractions to many people. His plan was to "blow it in." It required some boldness to develop such a theory, but the Hon. Thomas was equal to the occasion.

There are a great many Americans who are in favor of doing a good deal of "blowing it in" of the surplus in the shape of fortifications, public buildings and the creating of a navy. We could dispose of some of it to great advantage in Southern California. Four million dollars of it might very properly, in the next five years, be devoted to making a serviceable harbor at San Pedro. On the Atlantic Coast, by some inscrutable provision of nature, there are ten harbors to every one to be found on the Pacific Coast of the United States. All enlightened nations appreciate the necessity of having commercial facilities and harbors of refuge. France labored sixty years and spent sixty millions of dollars to make a harbor at Cherbourg. Begun under the first Napoleon it was completed under the Third, and it was while standing on the pier at Cherbourg that Queen Victoria tied the garter on the knee of the nephew of his uncle. Neither this immense sum of money nor the herculean labor was wasted. The French people are proud of their artificial harbor, and it has repaid the outlay many times already, and will a thousand fold in the coming years.

A portion of the surplus might also be very well employed in building a navy commensurate to some extent with the power and pretensions of the United States. There is no question that we are liable at any moment to be involved in a war with some power that possesses a well-equipped navy. It is not probable, but it is entirely possible. A large portion of the press of London talked war over the trifling Sackville incident, and talked it very blatantly at that. If we had a war on our hands with England just now the people of New York, Boston, San Francisco and other seaport towns would feel very blue. No American doubts but that the United States would come out all right in the end, but it would be a very disastrous beginning.

Some weeks ago the San Francisco Argonaut had a fanciful sketch which described the capture and destruction of San Francisco by the fleet of China, the war rising out of our exclusion legislation. It was perhaps a little far-fetched, but it is a very serious possibility that even China could take and sack San Francisco. Little Chile, with the Huascar, could undoubtedly batter down the business portion of that city and enforce tribute.

It would not, besides, be a bad idea to try and vitalize the American merchant marine. As a steady policy subsidies and bounties would be objectionable, but there is no reason why in their present depressed state the American shipping interests should not be encouraged by the national treasury. Both England and France for years pursued the policy of subsidizing their merchant marine, and the present splendid vitality of the shipping interests of those countries is largely due to this enlightened policy.

Mr. Cleveland's administration has made a good beginning. Gratifying progress has been made in rehabilitating the navy of the United States. The American people could witness, not only with resignation, but pleasure, a good deal of honest blowing in of the surplus in the creation of war-like plants. It would be a policy far preferable to running up the premium on national bonds to fabulous figures through unlimited purchases. Such a disposition of the surplus as would play into the hands of Wall street—a policy to which General Harrison seems to have pledged himself. The Congress of the United States, however, may have something to say about that.

Room for a Hundred Thousand Farmers.

The LOS ANGELES HERALD says there is room in this county for one thousand families to settle down and do well on small farms. The HERALD man should leave the dingy atmosphere by which he seems to have been surrounded for some time previous, get out into the country and investigate the situation. We beg leave to state in this connection that there is room in this great valley of Pomona for more than one thousand families, and they could all live in comfort and independence on small farms, provided they possessed energy and economy.—[Pomona Times.

Our neighbor at Pomona does not do us full justice. The HERALD'S proposition is that there is a home market for all one thousand farmers in addition to those now on our lands could possibly grow in the next year, and at good prices. The HERALD is always very emphatic in its proposition that there is room here eventually for one hundred thousand small farmers in Los Angeles county. But we think it best to proceed with duly conservative policy by doing the thing step by step. We are also fully aware of the great possibilities, of the beautiful valley that surrounds Pomona, and of the marvelous progress being made to fill it with a dense and properous population. It is most exuberant in its fertility. It produces the citrus fruits of the semi-tropics, the deciduous fruits of the temperate zones and nearly all the other fruits dear to the heart of the fair goddess whose name our lovely neighbor bears. And then it simply everflows in its unrestrained richness of fertility and produces Murchison. Viva! La Pomona!

Why They Come to California.

A FEW days ago the New York World which reached this office in an article which labored hard to comfort its Eastern readers under the grevious trials of the weather stated these facts:

The weather for the past month—in fact, for nearly all of the present year—has been excessively disagreeable. It rained on twenty-six days in May. The summer was unseasonably cool. The autumn has been cloudy, rainy, misty, sticky and generally abominable.

The same copy of the World in another item stated that the previous day had been the nineth rainy Saturday which had come in uninterrupted succession. Think of twenty rainy days in May when April showers are supposed to have given place to the sunshine which produces the flowers of that gay month! Think of nine consecutive Saturdays, all rainy, in the autumn months, when the blue haze of the lovely Indian Summer is expected to make the landscape a thing of beauty! And now that the cold summer and the rainy, sticky fall are past; now, after the nine consecutive weeks of rain, what follows? Why, what but the mercury below zero, the air like the edge of a razor, the earth wrapped in a shroud of gloom as an emblem of the death of the flowers?

Here in California the hillsides are all green with the newly budding life of spring. For this is spring in California. The flowers will soon be gay along all the plains, and the cattle will stand in lush grasses six inches deep. There will be no snow nearer than the mountain tops sixty miles distant. Frost will not reach us for a moment. The roses, heliotrope, fuchsias, and a thousand other flowers will bloom at our doors in the open air all through the year. These days the mercury is ranging at from 65 to 70 degrees in the daytime, down to 45 or 50 degrees at night. Look at the top of the first column of the last page of the HERALD and see what it was yesterday. Look there day after day and see that the ranges given above will cover the variableness of our climate. That is why they all come to Los Angeles.

NO CIVIL service reform humbug is wanted this time. We hope there will be no standing on ceremony when the process of chopping off heads begins. From the bureau chiefs to the crossroads postmasters the ax should be applied as fast as it can be wielded, and the 5th of March, 1890, should see that the cry "Turn the rascals out" is answered by the statement "None of them are in."—[Philadelphia News, (Rep.)

There is not a Republican paper in the land that has not been howling like a crazy Arab Dervish for the past four years whenever Mr. Cleveland removed an officeholder whose term of office had expired. He has more than obeyed the law in this respect, and has retained the enemy in posts of trust and places of power even after he might lawfully have replaced them. But that did not protect him from the most bitter criticism at the hands of the Republican press. Where is there one of them that does not now say amen to the spoils sentiments of this Philadelphia Dervish who since the election has learned to howl with the other side of his mouth? This is not referred to by the HERALD from any interest in this civil service humbug. We heartily hope the desire of those who thirst for official blood will be fully satisfied. But the haste made to change—not the opinions of our contemporaries—but merely their policy of not saying what they never believed, is to say the least very indecent.

THE one-piece troupes that visit this city would find it to the advantage of their treasuries if they would increase their repertoires next time, and give us one or two changes of programme in the week. That large class of patrons who are willing to go to the theatre two or three times in a week want variety.

HARRY COURTAINE.

A Relic of the Olden Time Redivivus.

When we first saw this name in the cast of Little Puck, we thought that some new player had taken the cognomen of one of the old-time versatile, talented and popular actors of early San Francisco. Yet we could hardly understand why this should be so, for although Harry was an excellent all-round artist and held his own at a time when it required a much higher standard of ability and a much wider repertoire to be a successful stock actor than it does now, his name was not famous enough to make it a professional object for a new man to adopt it. So we thought no more of the matter till last night, when we suddenly detected in his voice the familiar and unmistakable tone of that of the genuine original old-time Harry Courtaine. Having lost the run of him, lo, these many years, we thought he had crossed the dark river to join the majority; but there was no mistaking that peculiarity of voice as he materialized himself again to us in the character of "Dr. Hercules Savage." What a checkered existence has his been since we first saw him about thirty years ago at the old Metropolitan in San Francisco! He ran the gamut of all classes of shows, from Maguire's Opera House to Gilbert's Melodeon—now playing the rôle of "Macduff" to Anderson's or Stark's "Macbeth," and again delighting the habitués of Gilbert's with a comic song or a low comedy scene. Nor did he confine himself to the theaters of the metropolis, for we have run across him "barn-storming" in the mountains and posturizing before the miners in various characters to their great satisfaction. He must have had an iron constitution to be to the fore and have gone through what he has. It is like a revelation from a bygone age to see this veteran actor again on the boards and playing with the energy and acceptation of the days when he was in his early prime.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Little Puck" Still Brings Luck to the Grand.

Frank Daniels and his company in the absurdities of Little Puck fill the Grand Opera House nightly. It closes with to-morrow night.

Dan'l Sully.

Dan'l Sully's popularity here was amply shown during his engagement at the Opera House some months ago. He returns next week and a renewal of his success is anticipated. THE CATTLE INTERESTS.

Progress of the Beef Trust Investigation.

EVIDENCE TAKEN PRO AND CON.

The Range Men and Butchers Joint Convention Not a Howling Success.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

ST. LOUIS, November 32.—The Senate Cattle Trade Investigating Committee met again this morning. T. L. Leonard, of Saline county, one of the largest importers of black cattle in Missouri, said the cattle markets were paralyzed by the control the dressed beef men had secured. There is no competition in the market between the buyers.

Senator Plumb asked witness if he thought the price to the consumer lower than formerly, when there were no packing houses.

Witness—I know the prices we get for our live beef does not justify the price which the consumer pays.

Levi Samuels, a wholesale butcher of New York, formerly an exporter, testified that the cattle market is now depressed. He was familiar with the dressed beef business. With the exception of one or two towns in the East all the beef sold there is dressed beef. The local butchers have quit slaughtering or buying from the wholesale slaughterers. The reason for this was that the Western dressed beef men have gone in there and offered their beef lower than the local butchers could buy cattle and slaughter them. In this way the local slaughterers were forced to quit killing and to buy dressed beef from the West. When the Western men had secured control they put up the price high enough to justify their loss previous to obtaining control.

A. W. Hilliard, of Midland, Texas, stated that about a year ago he was negotiating with the proprietors of the beef refrigerator in El Paso to supply it with cattle, but the negotiations fell through because the El Paso people were closed out. The Southern Pacific Railroad refused to supply cars for the transportation of dressed beef to Los Angeles, having a contract with the Chicago people, which compelled them to exclude the El Paso people.

Richard Gray, General Freight Agent of the Southern Pacific system, with his office at San Francisco, was examined at his own request. He wished to get on record a denial of the statement made by Hilliard and another witness with reference to the company's refusal to furnish refrigerator cars at El Paso. This statement could not be true, as the company never had any refrigerator cars in its equipment. The company had never refused to furnish box cars to any one when it had them.

Senator Cullom thought he had Gray cornered when the latter admitted that his company had refused to accept cars from other companies and compelled shippers to transfer from original cars to Southern Pacific cars. Gray, however, qualified this statement by saying the Southern Pacific only had done this when the cars offered were unfit to go aver the steep grades and around the sharp curves of their road.

George Beck of Detroit, butcher and cattle dealer for the last thirty years, testified that the dressed beef organization had been the means of crushing out all the butchers throughout the East and concentrating the cattle business in Chicago.

Warren Buckmaster, a retail butcher of Akron, Ohio, testified that in 1887, the labor unions of Akron, Ohio, passed a resolution not to buy meats of Armour & Co. The butchers of Akron were happy, but in a few days Armour sent down a carload of meat and undersold them all. Armour's concern opened two stores in the heart of Akron, and actually gave away the best meat in the land. The result was the signing of an agreement by the Butchers' Association to give preference to the house of Armour & Co., the latter agreeing to close their retail establishments in Akron. Instead of closing their stores, they sold them to local butchers to be run to the great detriment of the trade. Witness admitted, however, that at present the consumers get their meat much cheaper then before Armour & Co. came in.

John Duff, of Detroit, a butcher of twenty-six years' experience, testified that he was met at Cheboygan six years ago by Armour meat, and closed out of the market there. At twenty-six places in Michigan, outside of Detroit, Armour's meat is one cent per pound higher than in Detroit. In those towns, butchers who six years ago were well-to-do, are now bankrupt.

Only one witness was examinued at the night session, A. C. Cassidy, an East St. Louis commission man. He explained the difference between Chicago and St. Louis as a cattle market on purely business principles, and claimed that if St. Louis did the right thing, the cattle question would come out all right.

BUTCHERS AND RANGERS.

Joint Convention of the Two Associations Opened.

ST. LOUIS, November 22.—The long-deferred joint convention of the Range Association ane Butchers was held to-night in the Exposition building. Only 100 people were present when Thomas Armour called the meeting to order. The report of the joint committee of the International Association was read by H. M. Taylor, of Denver. The report cites the danger of a combination and concentration of the markets of the country in the preamble, while in the resolutions it favors combined efforts on the part of butchers and cattlemen to secure such legislation as will restore the old condition of the trade, so that instead of having only two markets for cattle in the country, there will be hundreds of points where brisk competition will ensure some benefit to small dealers and consumers.

Colonel Charles James, President of the Butchers' National Association, addressed the Convention at length, reciting the results of his investigations in various cities as to the workings of dressed beef combines. An address by C. C. Slaughter, of Texas, followed, after which Colonel J. O. Broadhead, of St. Louis, read a paper on the constitutionality of the State inspection laws. The result of a secret conference held places the butchers and rangers in favor of the passage of laws providing for the inspection of cattle on the hoof, only at regular stockyards, and the inspection of meat for export at the request of the exporter.

NATIONAL INSPECTION LAW WANTED.

While the joint convention of the Range Men and Butchers was in session in the Exposition building, a meeting of committees from the Live Stock Exchanges of Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha and Kansas City, was held at the Southern Hotel. They were reinforced by seceders from the Convention and adopted a set of resolutions setting forth their views. The preamble recites that,

WHEREAS, The inspection and approval of meat products is necessary to command the confidence of the consumer, and such inspection and approval should be made under authority, free from local prejudices, and the interests of producers and consumers alike demand the best facilities for the marketing of live stock and the products thereof, it is

Resolved, That we favor a National inspection law, providing that it shall be unlawful to transport from one State into another State or foreign country any beef, pork, mutton or veal to be sold for human food, which has not been inspected alive at the slaughtering place by an inspector of the United States, and found healthy.

The resolutions favor the appointment of practical stockmen as National inspectors, and oppose local or State inspection laws which shall hinder the free transportation and marketing of meat products, on the grounds that such laws would have a tendency to destroy competition, and would not command the confidence in foreign countries that National inspection would. A copy of the resolutions will be mailed to each Senator and Congressman in the United States.

POWDERLY'S PEOPLE.

The Chief's Re-election Certain—Loose Financial Methods.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 22.—The question of election still agitates the minds of the delegates of the Knights of Labor General Assembly. Every one now acknowledges the certainty of Powderly's election, and his choice for other positions will be the choice of the convention.

Hayes, the present General Secretary, is said to be Powderly's choice for General Secretary and Treasurer. Mrs. Barry will undoubtedly be re-elected to her position in charge of the women's work, and, if he wishes it, Richard Griffiths of Chicago may continue to serve as General Worthy Foreman. Powderly's nominations for members of the General Executive Board cannot be so readily predicted. A Canadian member is desired. From the south there is also a request for representation on the Board. McGuire and Aylesworth, of the present Board, and O'Reilly, of New York, and Hugh Cavanagh, of Cincinnati, have been considered liable to be selected.

Four hours were spent in a heated debate over the Skeffington case. It was finally decided that Skeffington was guilty of insubordination, and that he be publicly reprimanded by the General Master Workman.

It was decided to send a representative of the order to the Paris Exposition, and then an hour and a half of the Convention's time was devoted to considering the secret work of the order. The Finance Committee, Hugh Cavanagh chairman, reported that it had found that the methods of disbursing funds were very loose; that bills had not been countersigned before being paid; that some officer should be given the veto power in regard to the expenditure of money, and under such a plan more money would now be in the treasury, and it further recommended that more business-like methods be established. They made no suggestion of any crookedness, finding all the accounts perfectly correct. The report stated that the reductions already decided upon by the consolidation and reduction of officers, would foot up $15,000. Salaries will remain the same as heretofore. Power is given to the General Secretary and Treasurer to throw out excessive items from the expenditures. By a vote of 88 to 57 it was decided to continue the salary of $5,000 to the General Master Workman, and the Secretary and Treasurer will be paid $2,000. Members of the Executive Board will receive $4 a day and expenses. The report of the Committee was adopted, and these matters as to salary came up immediately afterwards.

THE FRUIT GROWERS.

Figures Showing the Profits on Eastern Shipments.

CHICO, Cal., November 22.—This morning the Fruit Growers' Convention listened to an address by H. E. Parker, of Placer county, on the Smyrna fig. E. E. Smith, of San Francisco, read an essay on "Tomato-Growing," and R. C. Kells, of Yuba City, on "Dried Fruit." The latter subject resulted in a discussion on fruit-drying which occupied the balance of the morning session.

The Convention at the afternoon session adopted resolutions recommending T. H. Buckingham, of Vacaville, and W. L. Metheral, of Hanford, for appointment by Governor Waterman to fill vacancies in the State Board of Horticulture. The most interesting discussion of the session was concerning the comparative amounts of money received by the fruit growers and shippers and railroad companies from the Eastern shipments of fruit. Mr. Block, of Santa Clara, produced statistics showing that for every $100 given the shipper or grower the railway companies get $246, commission merchants $55, box makers and other furnishing supplies $70, so that out of about $460 received the grower or shipper gets less than one-fourth. The Convention appointed a committee of five to secure better freight rates for the coming season.

THE GOVERNOR THANKED.

SACRAMENTO, November 22.—A dispatch this afternoon was received from the President and Secretary of the State Horticultural Society, now in session at Chico, expressing thanks to Governor Waterman for the deep interest often expressed in the success of the fruit industry.

The Architects' Convention.

CHICAGO, November 22.—The second day's session of the Western Association of Architects opened with a discussion of needed statutory revisions relative to the fitness of architects. The opinion of the speakers was unanimous that statutory restrictions were needed. The report of the Committee on the Consolidation of the Western Association of Architects and the American Institute of Architects was favorably received, and will become operative when voted on favorably by two-thirds of the members of both organizations.

Woman's Suffrage Convention.

CINCINNATI, November 22.—The Woman's Suffrage Association closed a four days' session this evening with addresses by various delegates.

Dropped from the Clouds

COLUMBUS, Ga., November 22.—Twelve thousand people witnessed a balloon ascension at Exposition Park this afternoon. Prof. F. H. Vandergrift made the ascension. When the balloon had reached the latitude of half a mile it suddenly burst and began to descend to the ground rapidly, to the horror of the spectators. Vandergrift cut the rope that held the parachute, and for a time it seemed he would escape death. The parachute fell near the center of the Chattahoochie river, and Vandergrift was drowned in spite of the efforts of two men in a boat to save him.

TREASURER WYATT'S REPORT.

Gold Coin by the Bushel and Silver Dollars by the Ton—Cœsus Outdone.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

WASHINGTON, November 22.—The Treasurer of the United States, Hon. James Wyatt, has submitted to Secretary Fairchild his annual report of the operations of the Treasury. The net revenues of the Government for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1888, were $378,266,074, and the net expenditures $267,924,801; the surplus receipts available for the reduction of the public debt being $111,341,273, an increase of $7,870,176 over the year before. As compared with 1887, the revenues were $7,862,797 greater, and the expenditures $7,378 less. The Treasury balance increased during the year from $69,224,379 to $129,804,242, and the total assets, including certificates of deposit in cash, from $622,304,284 to $764,729,535. The net change of $60,579,863 in the balance was produced by the increase of $37,526,468 in assets, and a decrease of $23,053,394 in liabilities. The silver balance fell off more than $27,000,000. The principal increase of assets was in United States notes and deposits in national banks, and the principal decrease of liabilities in the public debt and funds for the redemption of national bank notes. There was a net decrease of $74,788,920 during the fiscal year in the principal of interest bearing debt. The total purchases of bonds for the sinking fund, out of the surplus revenues, were $51,454,300, the premium paid, exclusive of the accrued interest, being $8,270,842. The gold and silver coin and bullion in the country, and all kinds of notes and certificates outstanding June 30, 1887, amounted to $1,925,259,882, and June 30, 1888, to $2,093,562,072. The stock of gold and silver increased from $1,007,313,901 to $1,092,891,690, mostly in gold. The increase in the volume of paper circulation was $83,423,400, resulting from an increase of $110,319,955 in the amount of certificates, and a falling off of $26,895,554 in the total of notes and fractional currency.

DESTRUCTION OF PAPER CURRENCY.

Some attention has been given to the question of the probable loss or destruction of paper currency, but without any very definite result. A table is given showing the course of the redemption of the first issue of legal tender notes, until the notes are called in by the Government, or some other cause brings them to the Treasury. The loss from destruction must be more or less a matter of conjecture. The most careful estimate from data at hand places it at one per cent or less, according to denomination.

Certificates of deposit, amounting to $24,110,000 were issued for United States notes, and $18,465,000 were redeemed, leaving $14,665,000 outstanding. The Treasurer attributes the decrease of the use of these certificates since 1886, to the change in the manner of redeeming them, the holder now receiving the same notes that were deposited instead of new notes as formerly.

The volume of gold certificates outstanding increased $20,536,333, reaching $142,023,150, the highest point yet noted at the end of any fiscal year. Taking into account the decrease in the Treasury, the total increase in circulation was $29,901,143.

SILVER DOLLARS.

The coinage of silver dollars during the year amounted to $32,484,675, making a total coinage of $299,424,790. The increase of net distribution was only $39,156. Owing to the scarcity of one and two-dollar notes and their demand for movement of crops, nearly 9,000,000 silver dollars were drawn into circulation between May and November, 1887; but when the notes were again to be had, the dollars came back to the Treasury as they had gone out. The Treasurer is of the opinion that the people have all of these coins they want, or are willing to take, and recommends that if the purchase of silver is to be continued, the bullion to be put into the form of heavy bars or ingots, arguing that the present supply of dollars will be sufficient for any demand there is likely to be for them, and that any increase of certificate circulation could be based with perfect safety on uncoined metal. The new silver vault in the Treasury building, having a capacity of one hundred million dollars, and said to be the largest treasury vault in the world, is being filled at the rate of half a million a day. It will hold the total coinage of three years, but at the end of that period still further storage room will probably have to be provided unless coinage is suspended.

The amount of fractional silver coin in the Treasury has not changed much since first accumulating after the resumption of specie payment. The Treasurer states that the coin in the Treasury is in good condition, with the exception of a little of the silver; the half-dollars are much worn, some being quite smooth, and it has been impossible to recoin these, because the loss would have been too great in proportion to the new coinage, mostly dimes which it was necessary to produce.

The decrease in the amount of deductions on account of mutilations from the face value of currency redeemed, adding the number of counterfeit notes and coins rejected, shows a gratifying improvement in the condition of the circulation in this respect.

BONDS, BANK DEPOSITS, ETC.

At the close of the year the Treasurer held $178,312,650 of United States bonds to secure National bank circulation, and $56,128,000 to secue public moneys held in depository banks. There was a decrease during the year of $13,654,050 in the amount of the former, and a decrease of $29,642,500 in the amount of the latter. There was $58,712,511 of public money held by banks an increase of $35,396,633. The semi-annual duty collected from National banks amounted to $1,616,127, making an aggregate of $136,322,803 since 1865. The net proceeds on National bank notes redeemed during the year was $98,246,723. The redemptions were $11,000,000 greater than those of the preceding year, in the face of a reduction of $56,500,000 in two years in the amount outstanding, and greater in proportion to the circulation than those of every year, save two, since 1879.

It is estimated that there are between 2,500 and 3,000 sailors idle in the port to-day. Fifteen hundred of them are returned whalers, and the rest come from deep-water ships, coasters and fishing crafts. Ship-owners say they can get crews for $35, $30 and $25 a month, with $5 additional on steam schooners, and men are glad to go at that. Union sailors, however, say they are firmly resolved not to go to sea unless they are paid $45 a month to outside ports, $40 to bar harbors, and $35 to Islands, with $5 additional all around on steam schooners.

AFTER FOUR YEARS.

The Conclusion of a Long Drawn Out Land Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 22.—The case of Horace W. Carpenter againt John Brady, James Tippett and other settlers, residing upon five sections of land in the Moraga Valley, Contra Costa county, pending for the last four years before the Register and Receiver of the United States Land Office in this city, was decided to-day in favor of actual settlers under the peremption and homestead laws of the United States. Carpenter based his claims upon the act Congress approved in July, 1886, commonly called the Conness act, providing for the purchase by Mexican grantees or their assigns of land excluded by the United States in making the final survey of Mexican grants, proving such purchasers bought from the Mexican grantees in good faith and were in actual possession of the lands so purchased on passage of the act. The Register holds that Carpenter was not a purchaser as required by the act referred to as he only purchased an undivided interests in the Moraga grant, and the land in dispute being excluded from the final survey of that grant which was patented August 10, 1878. An appeal will be taken from the decision to the General Office at Washington.

A later dispatch was received saying that General Miles desired information as to whether or not the reservation here and the present buildings thereon could be made at once available for the accommodation of regimental headquarters, staff, band and four companies of infantry immediately. Captain Pullman examined the reservation buildings, and to-day a telegram was forwarded to headquarters saying that the accommodations here were ample for the purpose named, including four companies of infantry. It is probable General Miles will direct that the four companies, headquarters, staff and band of the Tenth Infantry, now stationed at Fort Union, be located in Santa Fe.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Irish Land Purchase Bill Again Debated.

ITS FEATURES, GOOD AND BAD.

Gladstone Criticises the Measure. Churchill and Parnell's Remarks.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

LONDON, November 22.—The debate on the Land Purchase bill was resumed in the Commons to-night by Parnell. He declared emphatically that he approved the bill, but he believed it was so designed that under the present circumstances it would be impossible to put it into effective operation. He had always held that the creation of a peasant proprietary was the only means of solving the land question. His own bill simply asked that church tenants be allowed to acquire land by paying the church commission annually for forty-nine years, a rent equal to 4 per cent. on the capitalized value of the holdings. That would create no risk to the imperial exchequer. The conservatives opposed that proposal, but the time would come when they would find it needful to go further. The Irish party were always ready and eager to assist in the settlement of the land question. It was calumny to say that any one of their members tried to make political capital out of the question, or opposed the bill because it would make the government of Ireland easier [cheers]. On the contrary, their opposition to the bill was due to the knowledge it would cause a loss to the exchequer without effecting its ostensible object. The Government had not taken up the land question with the view of helping the tenants, but at the solicitation of the landlords, who, seeing they could not any longer maintain the position, wanted to dispose of their property at inflated prices. The only way to make the landlords of congested estates agree to accept the value of their property, was to empower a commission to purchase at such prices as would really represent the landlord's interests. Any bargain with the farmers ought to have a basis that would put repudiation out of the question. The present system of the Government trampled upon national feeling. If the Government meant to attempt the scheme of large land purchase, it was essential to establish in Ireland a representative of authority to act as a buffer between the tenants and State. The tenants would have their 86 and maybe 101 members of Parliament. [Parnelites cheer.]

Lord Randolph Churchill said the assertion that the bill was introduced to enable the landlords to sell at inflated prices would not bear examination. Regarding national sentiment, he appealed to Parnell to say what room there was for romance in dealing with the matter-of-fact advance and repayment of money. Had Mr. Parnell any alternative bill? Would he support the principle of Gladstone's bill of 1886? [Parnell here gave a negative shake of the head.] Then what other scheme?

Parnell—I would accept the bill if the disadvantages connected with it were modified by dealing with arrears.

Lord Randolph said he trusted, after the recent speeches of the Ministers, the Government would bring up the arrears question early in the future. In the meantime he could not admit that coercion militated against land purchase. [Cheers.]

The bill passed second reading by a vote of 299 to 224.

AN ADDRESS TO THE QUEEN.

The Victoria Assembly's Views on Colonial Government.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., November 22.—In the Assembly to-day the Premier moved an address to the Queen advising that the office of Governor of that colony henceforth be confined to the class of public men who can be called to assist in the government of the Empire, and that the Colonial Government be informed of the proposed nominations. There was no idea, he said, of disturbing the relations with the mother country, but it is of the highest importance in view of the continued development of the colonies that the Queen's advisors appreciate the increased responsibility involved in appointing a Governor. He admitted the right of Imperial selection, but urged that the position ought to be an object of ambition, and no man ought to be appointed merely for the sake of the salary. The address was adopted without division.

The Mexican Cabinet.

CITY OF MEXICO, November 22.—The Cabinet Ministers to-day handed in their resignations to take effect December 1st, that President Diaz may have full liberty to appoint a new Cabinet for his new term. Many rumors are afloat, though it is probable that the only changes will be in the heads of the War and Justice Departments. Lancaster Jones will probably be Minister of Justice.

Jesus Jiminez, Governor of Michaocan, forbids the publication of news not revised by him. He is arresting correspondents.

LONDON, November 22.—John Bright was worse this morning, but shows signs of improvement this evening.

The Prison Reform Apostle.

CHICAGO, November 22.—Ex-President Rutherford B. Hayes was greeted to-night by an audience which packed Farwell Hall to suffocation. The ex-President is the guest of the State Board of Charities, and his address to-night was on "Prison Reform." Mr. Hayes explained the aims of the National Prison Reform Association. At the conclusion of his speech he received an ovation from the Grand Army men present.

Weary of Life.

NEW YORK, November 22.—The keeper of a so-called "furnished-rooms house," Alice McCarthy by name, committed suicide this afternoon. She bore the name of David McCarthy, with whom she lived. He was not her husband. Her husband's name was Nelson. She was born in Virginia City, Nevada, and has a child in the west. She was 32 years old.

MESSAGES FROM MANY LANDS.

The German Reichstag Opened by the Emperor—His Speech Heartily Applauded.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

BERLIN, November 22.—The German Reichstadt assembled to-day. Emperor William opened the session. In his speech he said the tours he recently made convinced him that the desire for Imperial unity was deeply rooted in the people. He emphasized the pacific character of Germany's foreign relations and foreign policy, and said his visits abroad, which had been undertaken with a view to effecting an understanding in the interests of peace, had caused universal confidence in the maintenance of peace. The Emperor made no reference to any military bills or credits, and touched but briefly upon the East African affairs.

The Emperor was frequently interrupted by warm applause while he was reading his speech. The passages referring to the peaceful situation, improvement in trade and social legislation were especially applauded. Upon the conclusion of the Emperor's speech, Herr Von Bethcher, as the representative of the Chancellor, declared the Reichstag opened.

When Emperor William entered the chamber he was received with cheers, led by Herr Von Buhl, Vice-President of the Reichstag. As he retired he was tendered an ovation, led by Count Von Lerchenfeldkovering, the Bavarian Plenipotentiary. During the opening ceremony the Imperial balcony was occupied by the Empress, the Duke and Duchess of Aosta and the Princess Albrecht and her sons.

When the Reichstag settled down to business the Budget was presented. It balances at 949,103,907 marks. On the expenditures 806,425,490 marks figure as permanent, and 58,554,615 marks as non-recurring expenditures. In the extraordinary Budget it is estimated that the revenue from taxation during the coming year shows an increase of twenty million marks. The funds made over from the Empire to the Federal States will be fifteen million marks in excess of the previous year. On the other hand the matricular contributions from individual States to the Empire are increased 1,365,108 marks.

According to memoranda accompanying the naval estimates, several new war ships will be built besides those now in the course of construction. The additions will comprise four iron-clads, nine smaller armored vessels, seven corvettes, four cruisers, two dispatch vessels and two torpedo boats. The existing war ships, the budget states, are still serviceable, but becoming unadapted to the times. It is therefore urged that there be created a nucleus for first-class ships of from 9,000 to 10,000 tons. The expenditures under this head are to be 116,800,000 marks, and to be distributed over ten years. The increase in army expenditures amounts to 7,000,000 marks, mainly for victualing purposes.

PARNELL INQUIRY.

Another Kerry Witness—Protest Against Harrington's Fine.

LONDON, November 22.—The examination of witnesses from County Kerry was continued at the session of the Parnell Commission to-day. Leonard, agent of the Earl of Kenmare, said the League was as active as ever. He thoroughly disagreed with the statement of Balfour that the League was a thing of the past. Formerly a writ could be executed by a sheriff with the aid of four policemen, but now four hundred soldiers were required. Since 1850 the Earl of Kenmare had expended £17,300 in improvements of his estate. His bill for labor now amounted to £300 weekly. Only such rents were taken from poor tenants as they could afford to give. Witness did not seek to collect rent from persons blue with hunger, and the law was never enforced against tenants of that class.

Harrington intends to question the right of the Commission to impose the fine of £500 which was assessed him yesterday.

THE COMMISSION DEFIED.

DUBLIN, November 22.—United Ireland makes a furious attack on the Parnell Commission because of the heavy fine imposed upon Edward Harrington. It says whether it is guilty of contempt or not it will not abstain from commenting on the action of the judges. It then reiterates the charges made by the Kerry Sentinel against the Commission, and asserts that the government, whose existence is at stake, has paid the court.

THE CRY OF FIRE.

Panic in Store and School—Nine Hundred Frantic Children.

NEW YORK, November 22.—Shortly after 1 o'clock to-day a fire broke out in the school building at Long Island City. Nine hundred children in the panic piled upon and fought each other in their frantic efforts to get out. They were piled on the floor at the foot of the stairways in heaps. Hundreds of them were badly bruised but none fatally hurt. The fire was insignificant.

FALSE ALARM IN A STORE.

CHICAGO, November 22.—A false cry of fire in the Boston store this afternoon caused a panic. A thousand persons, mostly women, shoppers and shop girls, made a frantic rush for the stairway and exits. Many were bruised and severely hurt, but not fatally.

Maladies of Playwrights and Actors.

NEW YORK, November 22.—Dion Boucicault is suffering from rheumatic gout. It is believed he cannot recover.

George H. Knight is very ill at Orange, N. J., suffering from paresis, apparently from the same causes which resulted in the death of John McCullough and Bartley Campbell, and which has prostrated Tony Hart. He arrived from Los Angeles ten days ago. He may die at any day or hour.

The Republic in Desperate Straits.

NEW YORK, November 22.—A London special to the Times says: During the past few days there has been a curious concensus of opinion that the French Republic is in desperate straits and that its downfall is imminent. Several English Radicals of repute have expressed the most pessimistic views on the subject, out of which a sort of scare has generated here.

Canadian-Australian Cable.

LONDON, November 22.—A conference of influential Australians and Canadians was held to-day. Sir Donald Smith presided. The question of laying a cable from Vancouver to Australia, to touch at Hawaii, Fanning Island, Samoa, Fiji and New Zealand, was discussed and approved; and it was voted to urge the Imperial Government to support the project. It was said that the tariff between England and Australia by this route will be four shillings per word.

Sioux Commission's Report.

PITTSBURG, November 22.—A Carlisle special says the Sioux Indian Commission has forwarded a lengthy report to Secretary Vilas. Captain Pratt said to a reporter, that the report contains some startling revelations, which will be read with great interest throughout the entire country. It shows the condition of the Indians, and how they have been treated by the Government, and the Commission sees no reason why the Government should have any trouble in bringing them to terms.

Dishonest Bankers Decamp.

OMAHA, November 22.—A special to the Bee from Valparaiso, Neb., says the bank at that place closed this afternoon. The proprietors, F. Scoville and G. A. Crafts have fled, leaving many debts unsatisfied. As near as can be ascertained this evening the liabilities of the bank will reach $200,000.

It develops that Scoville has altered many of the notes payable to the bank by raising the figures on them. Both he and Crafts borrowed extensively from their friends before leaving.

A Good Case for Damages.

NEW YORK, November 22.—Mrs. Compton, wife of the captain of the steamer Haytian Republic, recently seized at St. Mark, Hayti, and taken to Port-au-Prince as contraband for carrying arms for the Haytian rebels, arrived here yesterday, bringing the Captain's official report to the owners of the vessel. The report simply elaborates the details of the capture substantially as already given. The owners of the vessel say they are satisfied they have a good case for damages against Hayti.

Haines Must Wait the Attorney's Pleasure.

AUBURN, N. Y., November 22.—In the United States Court, Judge Brundage this morning moved for the immediate trial of Lawyer Haines of Seattle, W. T., charged with conspiracy in the opium-smuggling case. United States Attorney Lockwood opposed the motion on the ground that he was not ready to proceed to trial. The Court decided the case should be given preference when the District Attorney was ready.

The Church Acts as the Mediator.

NEW YORK, November 22.—Consul-General Basset, who represents the Haytian Government at New York, has received information that peace between the Haytian Government and the insurgents is being arranged by Ambassadors. The first steps in the negotiations were taken at the request of high dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church.

Cinching the Salvationists.

PETALUMA, Cal., November 22.—The City Trustees have passed an ordinance relative to street parades and the obstruction of streets and sidewalks. It is aimed at the suppression of the Salvation Army parades, which have been the cause of so much disturbance in this city. The Salvationists say they will apply at once for a permit, and if refused will parade as usual.

Mr. Morton Looks Around.

WASHINGTON, November 22.—Vice President-elect Morton is in the city to-day inspecting a large apartment house which he is building on the site of his former residence here. He says the time of his visit to General Harrison has not been settled. It will be arranged to suit the convenience of both parties.

Battle On Chesapeake Bay.

BALTIMORE, November 22.—News has reached this city of an engagement between a number of boats owned by unlawful dredgers and the State police sloop, in which a Negro named Castis was shot and fatally wounded. The fight was very lively for several hours. The police were driven off.

A Bad Man Laid Low.

DENISON, Tex., November 22.—Officers, after a long chase in the Choctaw Nation, succeeded in overhauling and killing a desperado, supposed to be John Barber, one of the celebrated Kep Queen gang. The man had killed an Indian and was wanted for attempted train robberies.

The Original State of Man.

In the cycle of phenomena presented by the life of man the animal, no more moral end is discernible than in that presented by the lives of the wolf and of the deer. However imperfect the relics of the historic men may be, the evidence which they afford clearly tends to the conclusion that, for thousands and thousands of years, before the origin of the oldest known civilizations, men were savages of a very low type. They strove with their enemies and their competitors; they preyed upon things weaker or less cunning than themselves; they were born, multiplied without stint, and died, for thousands of generations, alongside the mammoth, the urus, the lion and the hyena, whose lives were spent in the same way; and they were no more to be praised or blamed, on moral grounds, than their less erect and more hairy compatriots.

As among these, so among primitive men, the weakest and stupidest men to the wall, while the toughest and shrewdest, those who were best fitted to cope with their circumstances, but not the best in any other sense, survived. Life was a continual free fight, and beyond the limited and temporary relations of the family, the Hobbesian war of each against all was the normal state of existence. The human species, like others, splashed and foundered amid the general stream of evolution, keeping its head above water as best it might, and thinking neither of whence, nor whither. —[Prof. T. H. Huxley in Popular Science Monthly.

A Kiss in a Canoe.

The maiden sat in a light canoe,
Afloat on a mountain lake;
And a mad idea shot wildly through
The brain of her lover (who sat there too)
That he, in that self same light canoe,
A stolen kiss would take.

Now the maiden sat there, unaware
Of the plot that he had hatched;
And the mountain breezes played with her hair,
And fanned her cheek, and her brow so fair,
As she sat there still, quite unaware
Of the kiss soon to be snatched.

Then the lover awaited a real good chance
To capture the long for kiss.
When, watching the wimpling wavelet dance,
She turned her head with a quick, sly glance,
And leaning back, she gave him a chance,
That was really too good to miss.

So he bent to meet her, and tried to steal
The kiss that he burned to get
But he bent so quick, in his ardent zeal,
That the craft upset like a whirling wheel,
And he missed the kiss that he tried to steal,
And they both got very wet.

HOW MANY WAYS CAN THIS BE READ?

THE LOS ANGELES HERALD IS BY ALL ACKNOWLEDGED have been the prime factor in the discovery and making known of the resources of this section. To its sagacious outgivings more than to any other agency our marvelous development is attributed.

THE HERALD has from its inception watched with a single eye the budding industries of this portion of the State. For each good enterprise this journal has at all times had a word of cheerful encouragement. In spite of the skeptical, it has survived to see all of its earlier predictions fullfilled to the letter.

THE HERALD to-day takes the lead in all respects among the papers of Southern California. Its first care still is the material, intellectual and social interests of its section. It aims to be truthful rather than over-zealous in its publication of news; to be conservative rather than over-sensational, in its policy; to be clean and decent, respecting the sacred precincts of the home and fireside, rather than indecently salacious in its tone.

THE HERALD gets all the news from all quarters of the globe with promptness accuracy and dispatch. Its local staff is energetic and well-trained to miss nothing of real importance to its readers. It is always alive to all public enterprises.

THE HERALD still takes pride in aiding any legitimate material, intellectual or social movement which will benefit the people. No other journal in this section approaches it in those important respects.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

D. E. Miles Said to Be Ahead for Mayor.

THE ORO FINOS DEFEATED.

The Regular Caucus Tickets Generally Successful in the Several Wards.

The excitement which occurred at the Republican caucuses did not, for some reason, occur at the primaries yesterday, although in nearly all of the precincts rival tickets were in the field. Large crowds gathered around the polling places in the center of the city several times during the afternoon but beyond occasional loud talking there was no important disturbance. The polling place of the Fourth Ward had been removed to the corner of Fifth and Wall streets and there was no repetition of the troubles which occurred at the preceding primary, although the opposing forces were on the ground. Great Registers were in use at the polls, and no one was allowed to vote whose nam e could not be found therein.

There were two tickets in the First ward, but the regular caucus ticket carried the day. The opposition or the Miles ticket in the Fifth ward was successful to the surprise of the caucus ticket adherents. Very few Republicans know exactly how the Convention will stand on the Mayoralty. The friends of Mr. D. E. Miles claim that they have a large majority, and those of Mr. L. E. Mosher claim that they have more votes than appears on the surface. Mr. Miles' friends claim that ninety of the delegates are for him. The standing, it was stated, was rendered uncertain, from the fact that the fight in some of the precincts was not so much on the Mayoralty as on the Councilmen. In the Fourth ward the Mosher caucus ticket was defeated and the ticket for J. T. Brown for Councilman was victorious. In the Third ward the main fight was over the candidates for Councilmen, J. H. Book and Frank Walker. The Book or Union League ticket carried the day, and it was believed that Mr. D. E. Miles had more friends on the ticket than Mr. L. E. Mosher. It was said that there was a great probability of a second Republican Convention being held by the defeated factions. The Oro Fino Club ticket was not successful in a single instance, and a number were heard to say that they were in favor of calling a convention of their own. The Convention will assemble at Turner Hall to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

In the Third Ward quite a large crowd surrounded the polling place at the Wigwam, from noon until the hour of closing. They were about three hundred votes cast in this precinct and of these 240 were for the regular caucus ticket. The "Oro Fino" ticket was in the field, but it got no more support than it did at the caucus on the preceeding night. The vote yesterday was just about as it was at the caucus for both tickets.

In the Second Ward matters were very quiet although a large vote was cast. The Courthouse Precinct polled nearly 300 votes, and of these about 200 were straight caucus tickets. The only opposition ticket in the field was the "Pinto" ticket.

At the precinct on Temple street it was expected that matters would be lively, as there had been two caucuses and each claimed that it was regular. Each had its ticket in the field and active work was done on both sides, but the caucus held on Wednesday night was successful in carrying its ticket. Two hundred and fifty-five ballots were cast in this precinct and of these the successful ticket obtained an average of 160 votes.

The following were the delegates elected yesterday:

THE NEW COMMANDER.

General B. H. Grierson Arrives in the City.

Last night a HERALD reporter dropped into the Westminster hotel, and found on the register in a wonderfully firm, clear and symmetrical hand, the legend, "General B. H, Grierson, U. S. Army." Twigging in this the arrival of the gentleman who takes General Nelson A. Miles' place in Los Angeles, the news-hunter asked where the new arrival might be found, and being told that General Grierson had but a moment before gone to his room, a card was sent up, to which the General kindly responded by an invitation to come up stairs. Arriving at the door, the reporter was greeted in a very affable manner by the General. A rapid glance, while exchanging courtisies, revealed in General Grierson, a man of perhaps five feet ten inches, rather slight of frame, with the frosts of about 55 years besprinkling a crop of hair still far from thin, and a full beard, innocent of the touch of a razor for many years. This hirsute adornment is worn medium length, and while the General evidently does not figure in any respect in the role of a dude as a man, or look at all like a carpet knight as a soldier, still his beard is carefully attended to. The same is generally true of every thing connected with his personal appearance.

General Grierson arrived in this city yesterday, coming on rather hastily from his post at Santa Fe, New Mexico, in the hope of finding General Miles here. In this he was sadly disappointed, for the old Department Commander had left the day before for San Francisco, where he was unexpectedly summoned to take command of his new department. This unwonted haste was caused by a sudden determination on the part of General O. O. Howard to go East as soon as he could. General Miles will probably take command at the Presidio to-day and telegraph at once to General Grierson, who will then assume command in Los Angeles.

The new commander is not a stranger in this State. He has visited California several times, once no further back than 1885—three years ago. He is also well versed in the affairs of his Department, as he has been for two years in command of the District of New Mexico, which is a part of the Department to the command of which he has been promoted. It includes Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico. The General has also had much valuable experience in the management of the Indians, as he has had immediate charge of the Navajos since his being stationed at Santa Fe, and as he has been on the frontier since the close of the war. General Grierson in conversation last night was kind enough to express unstinted pleasure at the prospect of spending some time in Los Angeles. He admires the city and the surrounding country greatly, and is deeply impressed with the great possibilities before this section.

As to where he and his staff are to be quartered after the close of this year, he pleads truly too recent interest in the matter to be fully informed. He likes the present quarters very much. It costs the Government only $500 rental, which is certainly cheap enough. It ought to be secured again for the use of the General and his staff. No doubt it will be so unless perchance its owner may wish to improve it.

General Grierson is a widower, having unfortunately lost the companion of a long life-time very recently. He has four grown up sons, one of whom is following in the footsteps of his father, being a Lieutenant in the army, another is in college at Washington and the youngest, who is nineteen, is similiarly engaged at Santa Fé.

General Grierson was born at Pittsburg, Pa., July, 1837. He removed with his parents at an early age to Ohio, and subsequently to Jacksonville, Ill. Early in the Civil War he was appointed on the staff of General Ben Prentiss, with the rank of Major, and was promoted to the colonelcy of the Sixth Illinois Cavalry, then Brigadier-General of Volunteers in 1863, and Major-General in 1865. His services as a cavalry leader were conspicuous, and as such he conducted many important and successful raids and operations, among which was his memorable cavalry raid into the heart of the Confederacy in 1863. With three regiments of cavalry and a battery of artillery he started south from La Grange, Tenn., on April 17, 1863, riding in the rear of all the Confederate forces opposing General Grant down to Baton Rouge, destroying railroads, burning depots, cars, bridges and large quantities of arms and war material, and in sixteen days he rode over 600 miles, sometimes making forced marches of forty-eight hours.

He sent detachments to the right and left to destroy telegraphs, manufactories and magazines. On the fifth day after their departure his men rode eight miles through a swamp in which the water was from three to four feet deep. Twenty horses were drowned. During the last thirty hours they marched eighty miles, fought two skirmishes, swam a river, destroyed a Confederate camp and captured several prisoners. They were now altogether without food. On reaching Baton Rouge, so completely were the men worn out that it is said three-fourths of the command were asleep in their saddles. They had effectually accomplished their purpose for the time in cutting off communication between Vicksburg and the East.

TOOK LAUDANUM.

Dr. Grittinger Endeavors to Take His Life.

A man called Dr. Grittinger was found yesterday morning in a saloon on First street, in an unconscious condition. He had taken a glass of beer and been seen to put something in the liquor before drinking. He was shaken by the bar-keeper, but all efforts failed to waken him, and the patrol wagon was called. He was removed to the police station, where he appeared as if dead, and the Coroner's wagon was sent for. It arrived, and then it was discovered that he was still alive. Dr. Choate was then summoned and succeeded in reviving the man in a small degree, but at midnight, last night, there was not much hope of his recovery. Grittinger was steward of the Santa Fe hospital, and had been suffering from a painful disease for some time. He told a friend on Wednesday that if he did not get some relief he would take something that would put an end to himself. From appearances it was thought that he took laudanum.

Iowa Society.

Those interested in the organization being formed by former residents of the State of Iowa, met last night at the office of Capt. H. C. Carr. Chas. Willis, the chairman, called for reports of committees. H. C. Carr, chairman of the committee on organization, offered to the society a constitution and by-laws, which, after additions and alterations, were adopted. The committee on hall was authorized to contract for the rental of the Grand Army hall for six months, the entertainments to be given on alternate Saturday nights. The committees on music and programme was consolidated and authorized to present a programme when the first entertainment is given. The society will again meet at the office of Capt. Carr to-morrow evening for the purpose of electing permanent officers and completing the organization. Adjourned.

Sale of the Tin Mines.

We have it from a reliable gentleman who says that he knows what he is talking about, that the tin mines are sold to an English syndicate. Fifty thousand dollars has been deposited as a forfeit, and the title is now being looked up. If found satisfactory the sale will be completed. As the most strenuous efforts have been made for years to invalidate the title without success, we may be reasonably certain that it will stand the searching investigation that it will be subjected to. We shall probably hear more of this matter soon. If the mines are opened up it will take a thousand men to work them properly, and that means—who can tell how big a population for South Riverside in another year or so?—[South Riverside Bee.

Stir It Up.

A correspondence is now being carried on by a gentleman of Anaheim and Claus Spreckels with a view of getting him to put a sugar plant in this part of the State; failing in that, to inquire what price will be paid for beets delivered at their factory at Watsonville. The Southern Pacific Company will give rates in a few days what they can afford to deliver beets for from Anaheim to Watsonville. It is estimated that from twenty to twenty-five tons can be produced on an acre, the price varying from $5 to $8 a ton. If such arrangements can be made, it is expected that at least 1,000 tons of beets will be planted the coming season. We hope that by our next letter we shall be in a position to give some further information on this subject, if you do not get it from other sources.—[Anaheim Gazette.

A Narrow Escape.

A man by the name of William Johnson happened to be going up the stairs of the Lanfranco Block, just at the time the safe fell, which has been noted elsewhere in these columns. He was a few steps below the safe which was just being pushed upon the first landing. It suddenly broke loose and started down the stairs. Johnson fortunately saw it in time and made a leap ahead of it, when he got near the bottom he stumbled and rolled in a heap. The great mass came crashing down directly behind him, but by a lucky chance he rolled to one side out of its way. It was said by those who witnessed the affair, to be a most exciting and a very narrow escape.

The Murderer Said to be in Limbo.

At 3 o'clock this morning it was rumored at police headquarters that Constable Martin Aguirre had found the "Little Mac," the murderer of Matthew Robinson. He was found outside the city and it is confidently believed the murderer will be behind the bars by daylight.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

President Cleveland Denies the Rucker Report.

WASHINGTON, November 22.—The Post to-morrow will say: It can be stated authoritatively that the President denies most positively ever having used the language attributed to him by Judge Rucker in the now celebrated interview. As a matter of fact the President does not remember even having met Judge Rucker on the day in question. Senator Blackburn called at the White House with some friends. This much the President has called to mind. He recollects also that just before leaving the library the Senator stepped over to him and spoke a few words in regard to the Senate report on the Civil Service investigation, but at no time was anything said about politics in New York, and under no circumstances has the President even charged or intimated that there was treachery toward him in New York.

QUAY TRYING TO STEAL VIRGINIA.

WASHINGTON, November 22.—As the result of a conference between General Mahone and Senator Quay, recently held in this city, it is announced that proceedings will be begun in the Virginia State courts and United States District Court of Virginia, attacking the right of the Democratic electors of that State to cast their votes for Presidential Electors in the electoral college. The certificates of the electors will not be issued until after the meeting of the State Board of Canvassers in Richmond, next Monday, and the contemplated proceedings will then be immediately instituted.

HELENA, Mont., November 22.—John S. Dickerson, a well known journalist, died this morning after a long spell of pneumonia. Dickerson was a man of wide and varied experience in the newspaper business, having held several important positions in Indianapolis, St. Paul, Denver and other places, and was twice editor of the Helena Independent. At one time he was manager of the Associated Press at St. Paul. He was a native of Illinois, and about 41 years old. He studied law in the office of President-elect Harrison, and was a noted stenographer.
